

Meifly: Models explored interactively

by

Hadley Wickham
Iowa State University

9/19/2007

ABSTRACT

This paper describes exploratory model analysis for ensembles of linear models, where we look at all possible main effects models for a given dataset (or a large subset of these models). This gives greater insight than looking at any small set of best models alone: an ensemble of many models can tell us more about the underlying data than any individual model alone.